

Jackie Perilman

Childhood Educator

Jackie Perilman is an early intervention and childhood educator with 15+ years of experience in her field. Jackie graduated undergrad from Ithaca University and received her Masters in Deaf Education at Smith College. As an early childhood educator and early interventionist, Jackie brings a highly engaging, educational, and uniquely hands-on approach to teaching that caters to both the children and their caretakers' needs. She is trained in several curriculums that provide expertise in all development areas of the child including a social emotional program.

In 2021, Jackie and her family moved to Alpharetta, GA from New York City where she spent 13 years honing her skills as an early intervention specialist working at an auditory oral school focusing on hearing, speech, and language. While working there, Jackie was lead teacher supervising and training all in-coming graduate students and new teachers. Additionally, she led parent baby and toddler classes.

Now living in Georgia, Jackie continues her specialized work in Early Intervention and Early Childhood Development working with the organization Georgia Pines where she is responsible for conducting private one-on-one sessions with ages infant to 3 yrs. and their families. Additionally, Jackie teaches the pre-k class at the Schiff School.

Jackie is thrilled to be meeting and working with families in support of our Mazel Tot's program and to have the opportunity to utilize her skills for a great cause!
